VOLUME TWENTY-ONE

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF
WAKE FOREST COLLEGE
WAKE FOREST, N. C.

O, Alma Mater!

O, Alma Mater! 'Tis thy name
 That lights our path to glory;
 We'll ever spread thy matchless fame
 In word and song and story.
 So sound her name through all the land,
 Let triumphs ring on every hand,
 Let praises all our hearts command,
 Hail, hail to thee, Wake Forest!

Her sturdy sons from far and near
 Look back to Alma Mater;
 With many a prayer, but ne'er a fear,
 They bless their Alma Mater;
 And as they rise from height to height
 And stand as victors in the fight,
 They sing the mother of their might:
 Hail, hail to thee, Wake Forest!

Dear Old Wake Forest!

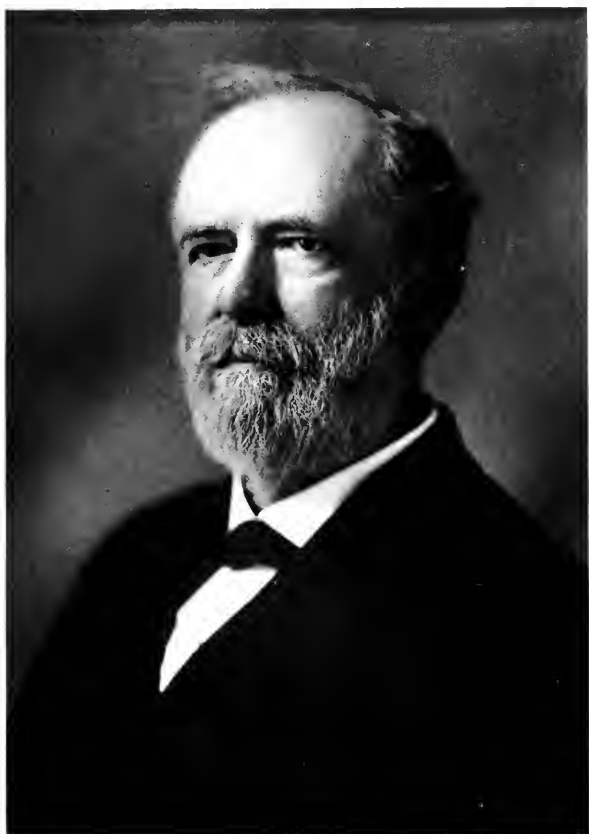

Dear old Wake Forest,
 Thine is a noble name—
 Thine is a glorious fame—
 Constant and true!
 We give thee of our praise,
 Adore thine ancient days,
 Sing thee our humble lays—
 Mother, so dear!

Dear old Wake Forest!
 Mystic thy name to cheer—
 Be thou our guardian near—
 Fore'er and aye!
 We bow before thy shrine,
 Thy brow with bays entwined;
 All honor now be thine,
 Mother, today!

Foreword

THE HOWLER, this year, is published by the students of Wake Forest College through private subscription. With no definite financial basis upon which to work (up until this year the two literary societies of the college have financed the annual), it has been necessary to reduce the size of the book considerably. Consequently this volume of THE HOWLER will be in a more condensed form. The editors, however, have done their best to crowd into the limited space such scenes, photographs, and reviews that will enable one to recall most clearly a picture of his life spent at Wake Forest during the collegiate year of 1922-23; and that will give to the alumni and friends of the college a view of life and conditions at Wake Forest as they are today. If this annual, the result of our labors, in any way meets with your kind favors, we shall have been duly rewarded.

WILLIAM OLIVE KELLEY, Phi.

Candidate for M.A. Degree

CLAYTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 26; Weight 155; Height 5' 10 1/2"

Kelley is the only one of the Class of '22 to return for the M.A. degree. Quiet, unassuming, genial, and energetic, he is a man of the highest type. During his college career he has not been a seeker of honors. Yet his personality and his natural ability, coupled with his good "common sense", have caused him to be pushed to the front in whatever activity he has engaged. We shall follow with interest his career in the field of education, his chosen profession.

B.A., '22; President Education Club, '22; Member Club; Member Philosophy Club; President El Circulo Espanol; Manager Stephens Boarding Club.

ROBERT LEE ANDREWS, Phi.

Candidate for B. I. Degree

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 168; Height 5' 11"

"Red", as the subject of this sketch is known to his friends, hails from the historic county of Orange. As a student, he ranks among the best, and his promptness and industry have won the admiration of the faculty. His long list of honors attests both his ability and popularity. It is also rumored that "Red" is quite popular with the fair sex. We predict for him much success as a lawyer, his chosen profession.

Assistant to the Examiner, '20-'21; Assistant Librarian, '21-'22; Student Senate, '20-'21; Assistant Business Manager Student, '21-'22; Education Club, '22-'23; President Phi. Society, Fall Term, '22; Winner Junior Orator's Medal in Phi. Society, Class Football, '22; Business Manager Student, '22-'23.

EUGENE HAMILTON BARTON, Phi.

K A

Candidate for B. I. Degree

ANDERSON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 135; Height 5' 5"

"Pee-Wee", as we call him, is every inch a gentleman. He is a seeker of knowledge, and takes advantage of his opportunities. He has a very likable personality, and delights in mingling with the fellows. He is especially popular with the students in English, because he sees to it that the nouns and verbs are not used interchangeably. We do not hesitate in predicting that attainment awaits him in his undertakings.

Captain Class Football, '19, '20, '22; Secretary-Treasurer S. C. Club, '20-'21; Chief Marshal Phi. Society, Society Day, '22; Vice-President S. C. Club, '22-'23; Secretary Senior Class, '22-'23; Assistant in English, '22-'23.

Senior Class

GEORGE WOOD BLOUNT, Phi.

K A

Candidate for B. A. Degree

WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 26; Weight 135; Height 5' 8"

George's sojourn here has been a decided contribution to the campus. In scholarship he is genuine, persistent, and effective; on the campus he has been unostentatious, practical, and sincere. With the racket, he has done credit to our intercollegiate record. For Blount, many forms of extra-curricular activities have been easy accomplishments. If thoroughness and manhood shall weigh in the future's scale of human worth, his Alma Mater takes pride in presenting to the world this gifted minister.

Secretary-Treasurer Student Body, '23; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '23; Delegate State Y. M. C. A. Convention, '23; President Dr. Paton's Sunday School Class, '23; Class Basketball, '20-'22; Varsity Tennis, '22; Associate Editor "Howler", '21; Assistant in English, '22-'23; Class Historian, '22; Intercollegiate Debate Council, '22; Secretary Student Government, '22; Anniversary Debater, '23.

ALBERT HURLEY BRASWELL, Phi.Candidate for B. A. Degree

CASTALIA, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Weight 150; Height 5' 7"

Braswell is genial, witty, a good mixer, and a man of high ideals and purposes. While here he has made a record worthy of highest commendation. Although not clamoring for collegiate honors, he has consistently proved himself to be equal to the work before him. He is recognized by all as a student thinker, and a man worthy and destined to become the winner of success in any work he may wish to do.

Treasurer Phi. Society, '21; Secretary, '22; Vice-President, '23; Secretary Anniversary, '23.

MARSHALL SYLVESTER BRITAIN, Eu.Candidate for B. A. Degree

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Weight 166; Height 5' 10"

To know "Britt" is to admire his ability as a student and business man. He has accomplished much in his collegiate work and has crossed the goal line with honored success. Aside from his regular college work, he has managed outside affairs, which clearly exemplify his leadership and sound principles of executive duties. He is unusually popular among the fellows, and has gained the friendship and confidence of many who will always remember him as a Wake Forester.

Class Basketball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Football, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Baseball, '20, '21, '22, '23.

Senior Class

WILLIAM DEXTER BROWN, Phi.

Σ Ξ Ν

Candidate for B.A. Degree

ANDERSON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 125; Height 5' 11"

If a little learning is a dangerous thing, "Bill" is certainly a safe man to associate with. Four years he has labored conscientiously with his books, and on his graduation day we find him eligible for a diploma "cum laude". Aside from academic achievements, "Bill" has been prominent among the student philosophers, being an officer and an active member of the Charles E. Taylor Philosophy Club. Your eyes now gaze upon the paramount achievement of his college career—"The Howler" of 1923. Member El Circulo Espanol, '20-'23; President S. C. Club, '21-'22; Member Philosophy Club, '21-'22-'23; Junior Critic Phi. Society, '21; Assistant in Spanish, '22; Special Gymnasium Team, '21-'22; Secretary Philosophy Club, '22-'23; Editor-in-Chief of "Howler", '23.

HENRY DONALDSON BROWNING, JR., Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

MONROE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 165; Height 6' 1"

Henry is the personification of noble thought and persistent effort. During his college career he has taken extra work and has made high grades. He is not one of those animals we call "book-worms", as his participation in all kinds of college activities shows. He is the type of man that, upon second meeting, you can say, "I have met you before." Class Football, '19-'23; Assistant in Library, '20-'21-'22; President Union County Club, '21-'22-'23; El Circulo Espanol, '21-'22-'23; Education Club, '22-'23; Wake Forest Press Association, '22-'23; Business Manager "Old Gold and Black", '22-'23; Secretary Eu. Society, '22; Vice-President Senior Class, '22-'23; Winner Junior Orator's Medal, Eu. Society, '22; Representative N. C. Collegiate Press Association, '22.

AUGUSTUS MERRIMON BURNS, JR., Phi.

Α Θ Ε

Candidate for B.A. Degree

ROXBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 185; Height 6' 1"

"Gus" is an altogether likable chap, with a deal of ability and a delightfully indolent disposition. However, this indolence is more or less an attitude, since he has managed to take a part in various campus activities and also make an altogether creditable showing in his classes. A wise remark prevents his "dulling his palm with each new-hatched, unfledged comrade", but he is nevertheless easy to know, and those friends he has truly "grappled to his soul with hoops of steel".

Anniversary Marshal, '20; Business Manager "Old Gold and Black", '21; Assistant Manager Football, '21; Political Science Club, '21-'22-'23; Senior Editor "Howler", '22-'23.

Senior Class

FOSTER PIERCY CARTER, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Weight 147; Height 5' 10 1/2"

Piercy is of that enthusiastic type of man that acknowledges no defeat and is willing to exert himself to the limit to accomplish any responsibility that is entrusted to him. It is highly probable that Piercy will return to Wake Forest in order to study law. If he does, it is certain that the profession in North Carolina will have another man of ability and character. Regardless of what activity he pursues, he is bound to meet with success, and he carries with him the good will of his classmates.

Varsity Track Team, '20-'21; Member "W" Club, '21-'22-'23; Political Science Club; Class Football, '21-'22-'23; Forfeater Senior Class; Sub-Assistant Manager; Baseball.

DWIGHT M. CASTELLOE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

AULANDER, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Weight 157; Height 5' 11"

"Castelloe" is probably the most democratic man in the student body. Whether in the presence of the humble and unassuming or of the proud and scornful, he always looks his fellow creatures in the face with an eye that "owes not any man". With a good collegiate foundation, and natural ability, spurred on by his insatiable ambition, nothing save death itself will prevent him from achieving that high degree of success which has been exemplified by his college career.

Winner Freshman Debater's Medal, Eu. Society, '20; Anniversary Debater, '22; Member Glee Club, '19-'20-'21-'22-'23; Class Baseball, '19-'20-'21-'22-'23; Scrub Baseball, '21-'22-'23; Member Education Club, '21-'22-'23; Vice-President Club, '22-'23; Member Phi Chi Club, '21-'22; Member Philosophy Club, '22-'23; Delegate State Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '20-'21; Member Track Team, '19-'20-'21; Member A. B. F. Club, '19-'20-'21; Cenar Eu. Society, '21; Theor Leader, '22-'23; Intercollegiate Debater, Wake Forest-J. B. Stratton Debate, '22.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

ZEBRA, MISSOURI

Age 23; Weight 140; Height 5' 10"

Here is a man from the land of "Show me", who came to us via Mars Hill College. If he is truly representative, Missouri has a delightful atmosphere in which to live. His lofty ideals, Christian character, and sympathetic spirit have won for him the admiration of all who know him. The association with him in college has been altogether too short. We shall miss him but once—namely, always.

Associate Editor "Student", '21-'22; Chaplain Eu. Society, '21; President College B. Y. F. U., '21-'22; Historian Ministerial Class, '22-'23.

Senior Class

BASIL MANLY CRAWFORD, Phi.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

EURE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 29; Weight 165; Height 5' 11"

"Crawford", as he is familiarly known among the boys, comes from Eastern Carolina, and, having remained with us for the required length of time, now demands his diploma. Quiet and unassuming, yet conscientious and diligent, Crawford has acquitted himself and performed his work in such a way as to command the admiration and respect of all who know him. We are confident that he will accomplish a great good in his chosen profession, the ministry.

Vice-President Phi. Society, '23.

SIDNEY MELVIN CROWDER, Eu.

Φ Κ Β

Candidate for B.A. Degree

ELLENBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Weight 140; Height 5' 8"

Rutherford County, nestled at the foothills of Western North Carolina, sent us Crowder, and thanks to it, for nowhere is there a blemish on his college record. "Runt" is one of those congenial, sturdy, amiable companions with a free-hearted, accommodating nature. These rare, envious qualities are blended so effectively in Crowder that they have rapidly placed him among the foremost men of the campus, which is evident by his being selected as manager of baseball for 1922-23. In all, Crowder is the kind of man that "just fits in". Commencement Marshal, 19-20; Secretary Rutherford County Club, 20-21; Secretary Pan-Hellenic Council, 22-23; Manager Baseball, 22-23; Member "W" Club, 22-23.

EDWARD SYLVESTER ELLIOTT, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

SHELBY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 30; Weight 220; Height 5' 10"

Elliott comes directly to us from the army hospital. He was wounded while in France serving in the "grand old Eighty-first Division". This is very conspicuous in his walk. Elliott's home is at the foothills of the Blue Ridge. The esteem in which the whole college holds him assures the fact that he is lovable, reasonable, and admirable. His success is sure, because he loves mankind, and if needs be, will go to "earth's remotest nation" to lift up fallen humanity.

President Freshman Sunday School Class, '20; Poet Freshman Class, '19-'20; Member A. E. F. Club, '19-'23; President Summer School, B. Y. P. U., '21; Chaplain Eu. Society, '21; Secretary Anniversary, '22; President Cleveland County Club, '21-'22; Member Honor Committee, '21-'22; Member Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '21-'22; President Union B. Y. P. U., '22; Member Intercollegiate Debate Council, '22-'23; Society Day Orator, '22; Vice-President Ministerial Class, '22-'23; President Eu. Society, '22.

THADDEUS WOODY EVANS, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

HENDERSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Weight 160; Height 6' 2½"

"T. Woolly", as he was christened early in his days at Wake Forest, goes out from his Alma Mater one of the most popular and best known students on the hill. A leader, a student, and withal a first-class college man, his record is an enviable one. His honors and achievements stand out and bespeak his character and ability. We, without hesitancy, predict a future filled with matured hopes and ambitions, prospered by unquestioned success, in his chosen profession.

Junior Class Poet, '21-'22; Assistant Manager Basketball; Member International Relationship Club, '20-'21; Member El Circulo Espanol, '22-'23; Assistant in Library, '21-'22-'23; Member Political Science Club; Secretary Society Day, '21; Chairman Student Legislature, '22-'23; Manager Senior Football; President Senior Class, '22-'23.

JAMES ALVAH FARTHING, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

SUGAR GROVE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Weight 135; Height 5' 8"

In "Jim" we have found a student and thinker of unusual ability. Such is evidenced by his record and leadership as one of the outstanding members of all his classes. Friendly, genial, and a man with high ideals and principles, we have found in him the making of a real citizen. His chosen profession is law, and in his preparation he has shown himself worthy of his calling. We pride ourselves in claiming him as an alumnus of Wake Forest and recommend him to the world as one destined to be successful in his life's work and serviceable to mankind.

Member Education Club; Assistant in Library; Member of Student Council, '23.

CECIL CONWAY GOODE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

BOILING SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Weight 138; Height 5' 8"

Wing to Wake Forest from Cleveland County, Goode, in his appealing and friendly way, early in his college career became unusually popular among the students, and has made an enviable record that will live and be remembered by all who know him. In pursuing his courses in preparation for entering the field of education, his ability has been shown by his marked success as a deep student and thinker. In whatever clime he may choose to find his life's work, we predict for him much success and recognition.

Senior Class

THOMAS TRISTAM HAMILTON, Jr., Eu.
Candidate for B.A. Degree
HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Weight 155; Height 5' 11"

"Tom" hails from Western North Carolina—Hickory, to be more specific. During his stay at Wake Forest he has proved to all his associates that he has inculcated within him ideals as high as the hills from which he comes. He has acquired a multitude of friends who regard his friendship as a priceless nugget. "Tom" has been consistent in his college work; the faculty recognized this fact and made him assistant to the dean. He goes about his work quietly, but with a purpose and determination which will always bring him success.

Vice-President B. Y. P. U., '20; Corresponding Secretary Education Club, '20-'21; Member Education Club, '20-'21-'22-'23; Assistant in Library, '20-'21; President Catawba County Club, '20-'21; Secretary Student Senate, '20-'21; Assistant to Dean, '22-'23.

PHOICIAN VINES HAMRICK, Eu.
K A
Candidate for B.A. Degree
SHELBY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Weight 165; Height 5' 11½"

"P. V." is one of the strongest men in the Senior Class, and the type of man that any group of people will select to place in positions of responsibility. His interest in athletics and his business ability caused him to be elected to the Athletic Council, the highest honor that a member of the student body can achieve in the realm of athletics.

Who in his class work "P. V." has made good. Many are the friends of "P. V." who predict for him success in the world of business on account of his likable traits as well as his dependable nature.

Class Basketball, '21-'22-'23; Assistant Manager Baseball, '22; Class Baseball, '23; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '22; Class Football, '23; Athletic Council, '23; Anniversary Marshal, '22; Chemical Society, '21-'22-'23; President Chemical Society, '23; Philonophy Club, '22-'23; Political Science Club, '23; Censor Education Society, '22.

ALBERT TRUETT HAWKINS, Phi.
A Φ Ω
Candidate for B.A. Degree
STARR, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Weight 137; Height 5' 10½"

Features worthy of the Greek immortals, a friendly but nevertheless reserved bearing, and a somewhat serious outlook on life are the leading characteristics of this son of the Palmetto State. Always a good student, he has buckled down to hard work in his senior year and has made an unusually good record for himself. His chosen profession is the ministry, and because of his absolute intellectual and spiritual honesty he bids fair to become an exceptionally useful member of the calling.

Member Honor Committee, '19-'20; Vice-President Sophomore Class, '20-'21; President S. C. Club, '20-'21; Member Glee Club, '21-'22.

Senior Class

DANIEL REID HAWKINS, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

CLIFFSIDE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Weight 158; Height 5' 10 1/2"

His greatest asset is that he lives his life, not to himself, but for the pleasure he gives to others. With a heart as noble and true as unselfish, he has taught us to appreciate the real value of a friend. His loyal college spirit has made him one of the best loved of our class. We know not what the future holds for Dan, but it is a sure wager that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

Class Football, '20-'22; Class Baseball, '20; Class Basketball, '20-'21-'22; Captain Junior Basketball Team, '22.

ASTOR HUNT, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

BOILING SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Weight 130; Height 5' 8"

The above named is a man very rational and profound in his thinking, accurate and diligent in his studies, unassuming and generous in his dealings with his fellow students. He is one with deep convictions and high ideals. He has made a host of friends while in college who will eagerly watch the growth of his career and gladly accept the news of all achievements that he may accomplish.

JOHN CALDWELL LAKE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 19; Weight 140; Height 5' 8 1/2"

Likable, unassuming, and capable is Johnnie. Although not taking any conspicuous part in the affairs of the campus outside the realm of basketball, Johnnie is one of the best students in the class of '23, and one whose ability will reflect credit upon the class that may claim him. Johnnie's talent lies in the field of teaching and of business. Thoroughness and dependability are among his attributes, both of which will contribute to the success that he will achieve when he enters upon the stage of the world's activities.

Class Basketball, '23.

Senior Class

EARLY GAITHER LEE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

LINCOLNTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Weight 190; Height 6' 2"

In "Jimmie", a son of Lincoln County, Wake Forest has found a man that she is proud to claim as an alumnus. A student and a thinker of high-est calibre, an athlete with a lasting record of honors, a winner of splendid success in fitting himself for his chosen profession of teaching, a debater, speaker and business man, evidenced by his work in the Euzelean Society, we proudly step forward and recommend him to the world as a man who will reach out and attain much in whatever he may wish to accomplish.

Class Football, '19; Commencement Marshal, '20; Varsity Football, '20-'21, '22; Member "W" Club, '21-'22; Education Club, '22-'23; Treasurer Eu. Society, '22, '22-'23; Declamation Contest Committee, '22-'23.

JAMES LOUIS LOVELACE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A. Degree

BOILING SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Weight 185; Height 5' 11"

"Bill" is his campus name—otherwise, "Jim". But for the fact that "Uncle Sam" called him to the front ranks in 1918, we could boast that "Bill's" school career has been as unbroken as it has been successful. His talent and love of music gained him a place on the college Glee Club, and have contributed to his popularity in all college activities. His athletic physique, commanding personality, high ideals of character, and unusual attainments in scholarship, are all indications of the noble service he will render in his well chosen profession of teaching.

Glee Club and Orchestra, '19-'22; College Band, '19-'20, '22-'23; President Cleveland County Club, '22-'23; Treasurer Education Club, '22.

The fall of '19 ushered into the halls of Wake Forest College a large number of new men, among whom was our friend, Buck Hodge. Since then he has diligently sought to learn the fundamentals of medicine, by which he may be able to alleviate the pains of suffering humanity. He has been faithful to his task, with the exception of an occasional Saturday off to see his best girl. This we envy him not, for it is natural. But for his faithfulness he emerges from the sacred halls of Wake Forest with a "sheepskin" under his left arm and a pill box in his right hand. Thus he goes out into life, leaving many friends behind who wish for him a successful career.

Brief the respite from desert;
 Pleasant the life of the oasis,
 But now, to make room for the others
 Who come through the long sandy stretches
 And knock for admission, we, pausing
 For awhile in review of the friendships
 And scenes which have grown dear to us,
 Depart.

With loftier visions,
 Which came to us in the oasis,
 We return to the shifting desert
 To cope with its problems and make it
 A happier place to live in.

JNO. R. KNOTT, Poet.

Time wielded in favor of a group of assiduous youth an interlocutory space of history and deemed that the Class of 1923 should find the first steps of their educational itinerary at Wake Forest in the year 1919, the transitory year of years.

It was the year following the signing of the Armistice this history began. Memory brings clearly to us the rumblings and mutterings of throbbing arms on the battlefronts of the World War. Instead of the belching of cannons and machine guns, the bursting of shells, and the constant ring of shrapnel, the smoke of the world combat settled gently over the breasts of the nations in sympathetic and soothing haloes of peace. The gladdened heart of America throbbed with this gift of tranquility, and the hearts of millions joined the nation in this symphony. Transition marked a new day. On many a college campus throughout the land where in only 1918 many young men stepped tactically to the urgent call of the drums, speaking for the nation in collegiate training camps, there arose evidence of the silent arms, and the echoes of every campus that breathed preparation for war hearkened to the welcome of peace. A new dawn appeared for collegiate activities.

But with this transition there came a call—possibly unsettled, uncertain, and indeterminate. The nation was restless, and the next few months would mark the crux in the beginning to rebuild the castles of a war-ridden country. Financial conditions were hazardous and unsettled. Many men were still overseas, and no one knew how the enrollment of the colleges would appear when the collegiate bells of the nation began to peal their beaconing tones in September. Everywhere that atmosphere of uncertainty reigned, and many a youth thought deeply and seriously as to the right course to pursue.

However, despite the anxiety and unrest throughout the land, a husky band of high school graduates and "masters" of prep schools hied to Wake Forest, as unconcerned as if the World War had been fought in 1818, and no German submarines of financial deficiencies had roamed a sea of monied pestilence. The new class had its handicaps, many of them, but no one breathed a dissenting voice. The only echoes of resentment that could be heard came from the skeptic throats of more than "skiddish" freshmen, who dreamed that some war-trained sophomore would enter the realm of freshman and make application for experimental barber-chair expeditions. Hilarity and glee reigned everywhere, and the campus was full of life and merriment, save occasionally when some "freshie" decided a cruel blow had been handed him by some Chemistry or Biology professor, or even Math. exemplifier, which caused a certain dizziness in the knees and a shaking of the head.

The Freshman Class of 1919, with all due ceremonies, elected D. J. Lewis as collegiate target-goat, and sponsor of the "Greenman's Club". The year passed—nine lengthy months—and only seventeen of the number were shorn of their locks. But this year, with its uncertainties, both in nightly expeditions in the chase of wool and other discrepancies in accordance therewith, only served to test the calibre of the class, and proved to be an outstanding medium in the college a band of hard-working, consistent knowledge seekers.

Without the slightest intention of laudation or boasting, it is expedient that I mention a few of the accomplishments of the Class of '23. In every phase of college activities the members of this unit have been in the front ranks. Whether in athletics, forensic exploits, literature, science, law, or medicine, or any branch of learning at Wake Forest, worthy talents and ambitions have been found and tested during these four years, to be recognized as lasting traits of success and fruitfulness in life. When Wake Forest's football eleven defeated Davidson on Wearn Field, in Charlotte, in 1921, and tied the "Wildcats" last fall on the same gridiron, there were to be found on the field men in the Class of '23—men who have won all-state honors, dressed in Old Gold and Black togs. Whether in football, baseball, basketball, tennis, or track, the Senior Class of this year has put in the field athletes of iron calibre. In forensic activities the standard has been held aloof and ever flying in the wind. During the last three years, while Wake Forest has been constantly sweeping her opponents off their feet in debates, men of the 1923 aggregation were classed with the triumphant. Only last year one of the number won the Peace Oratorical Medal, which declared Wake Forest as having the best orator in the state. Then in literature and writing a genuine standard has been maintained, showing talented ability. THE HOWLER this year is regarded as one of the best ever put out at Wake Forest. Members of the Class of 1923 have been at its head in managing and compiling the elaborate book. The Student during the past two years has had men on its staff who entered freshmen in 1919, with uncertain and misty visions of attaining literary honors and achievements. Old Gold and Black has grown and flourished in new style, with such men aiding in managing and writing for its columns. It is today recognized as the best college weekly publication in North Carolina. In medicine, law, and science, of this year's number we find men who have led the work and have drawn unconsciously for themselves honored attainments.

But now, with the goal of closing day of college life at Wake Forest upon us, we review the past with intense vividness, touching memories and aching pleasures, which make us regret that this history must be written. Doubtless many of our number would like to live every day over again. Live every hour, whether beset with gruelling tasks, mountains that seem hard to climb, and currents that appear hard to breast; yet the final exit has been reached, and now we step into the limelight of life willing and ready to face the whirlwind of a busy struggle—ready and willing to go forward speaking in gentle whispers the greatness of the college we have learned to love, ready and anxious to give the world the best we have in us, and bring honor to our Alma Mater. The memorial we leave as a reminder of our sojourn here will always bring to our hearts tender memories of the love and gratitude we hold sacred and cherish daily for Wake Forest and the men who compose her faculty. Whether success and triumphant fruits, or failure and gloomy attributes of our efforts, shall assail us in the future, Wake Forest will stand out to the Class of 1923 as a guiding port—a haven of beauty and learning, a polishing temple dedicated to humanity by our forefathers, and held securely in its orbit of culture and greatness by our Creator.

GAY G. WHITAKER, Historian.

Since the day of the long-whiskered prophets and the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment supernatural revelations have ceased to exist. But there remains one means of prophecy, perhaps greater than all the rest, that can never fail in fulfillment. And so I prophesy to you by the inspiration four years of association with these eager minds have brought. By the manner in which they have sown the seed of the past I shall prospect the harvest of the future, for "The present still is echo of the past;

Of both, the future will an echo be,"

For four long years I have been a "campus grazer" and a day dreamer. By running with the common herd of my species, the Class of 1923, I have sought out their past lives, habits, and experiences with the fair sex. Guided by these incidents of the past I have been called from this dull prosaic world of the present, and have been shown far out into the future, where bright worlds have been conquered, and radiant crowns have been won, all by the Class of '23.

George Blount, having finished his course at the Crozier Theological Seminary, will become pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wilson, North Carolina, where he will vigorously denounce gambling and "bootlegging". He will be materially aided in this work by the town's best two attorneys, Peele and Uchurch. The business firm of Ayers & Burns will help bring about immediate results in the cause by their efforts in destroying the ever diminishing supply.

A. N. Corpening, E. S. Elliott, and Astor Hunt will soon hear the call of the man of Macedonia, and go over to China. There they will join their former classmates and co-missionaries, W. M. Page and T. G. Proctor, in the work of Christianizing the natives. It will be here that John R. Knott and "Icky" Pait will find them when they go on their Eastern tour in search of inspiration for their new combined book of poetry.

M. L. Robinson, after spending a few years in private study, will accept the position of professor of Greek at Furman University. His associate will be W. R. Wallace. On the same faculty there will be Professors B. M. Crawford and E. L. Spivey, professors of the Bible. These dispensers of knowledge will strongly support Drs. Teague and Willis in their doctrine of the "Inheritance of Acquired Characteristics". They will be bitterly opposed by three lecturers of note, R. B. Tapp, C. N. Royal, and M. M. Palmer. Mr. Palmer will denounce it as a "cranky" subject and Mr. Tapp will contend that his children cannot possibly inherit the characteristic of becoming married while in college.

To the State Teachers' Assembly in 1942 there will come Britton, from Shelby; Dorsett, from Siler City; Goode, from Wingate; Lovelace, of Charlotte; Morton, of New Berne; and H. P. Naylor, from Wilmington. Forming a political unit they will elect "Rachel" Peele, of Calypso, vice-president of the next assembly, and E. G. Lee, of Ashville, secretary. The presiding officer of that occasion will be none other than Dr. E. H. Barton, of the Greensboro College for Women. F. P. Carter and D. M. Castello will send their regrets from Delway that they cannot come on account of school duties and home ties.

The scientific development of the next two decades will surpass that of the last two in several ways, which need not be mentioned here. S. M. Crowder and W. D. Brown will sell a patent to Henry Ford whereby a process will be employed to run the Universal car on alcohol, generated from corn meal right on the spot as fast as used. Their new device will be tested in the Ford laboratories by A. H. Brasswell and Omer Goodwin. J. C. Lake and R. H. McDowell, mining engineers for the Cumberland Coal Corporation, will use the first one of the new cars in their research for a substitute for lubricating petroleum oils. "Bert" Hawkins and "Bill" Ward will extol the feats of these inventors in their magazine, The Scientific Weekly. Two of their contributing editors will be S. O. Wilde and T. T. Hamilton.

J. C. Young and O. M. Staton, after reading the accounts of Hamilton, will journey to New York to aid P. V. Hamrick and Dan Hawkins in developing phonographic moving pictures. Henry Browning will become manager of a firm, "Andrews & Farthing", that will manufacture apparatus for making films for such pictures, and his ability to manage will be early recognized by his retirement to private life and occasional experiments in politics. His sure success we ascribe to his management of Old Gold and Black while in college.

In the near future our country will see the need for more and better doctors, and Wake Forest will be called upon to furnish her share. Due to his ability to judge between cigars that do and cigars that do not furnish smokers cheap intoxication, Clarence W. Bailey will be chosen by the Reynolds Tobacco Company as inspector of cigars and "R. J. R." Residing in Winston-Salem, he will be frequently visited and consulted by Drs. Barnes and Barnes, practicing physicians. Dr. Bailey will never go to Washington because of a certain episode of his youthful days, but will be often informed of affairs, in which he is still curiously interested by two brothers in the profession, Drs. Gilmore and Hodge.

F. W. Carroll and F. B. MacDonald, late in their middle lives, will truly discover the fountain of youth in the practical transmission of ape glands. Dr. W. G. Smith, leaving his family of several and his practice at Charlotte, will spend a year with these famous doctors learning the art of rejuvenation. In a well known hospital W. G. Cheeves and W. D. Evans will supplement the work of Drs. Carroll and MacDonald by their successful straightening of crooked spines.

"Doc" Moore will not be slow to learn that politics is his calling, and under the influence of "Max" Gardner, Congressman from Shelby, he will be induced to run for Senator from Western North Carolina. John Powers will become his family physician while in Washington.

Bill Johnson and George Heckman, on account of their handicapped vision, will regularly coach the Auburn football team. And long before the hairy growth completely disappears from the dome of Coach Heckman, Auburn will defeat Georgia Tech.

About this time Yann Stringfield will be an artist around the "hot corner" for the New York Yankees. On one of his Southern training trips he will send his regards and good wishes to Coach Johnson in the shape of an English bulldog.

To tide over the starvation period, or either because they like it, W. L. Angel and Parker Pool will become attached to the Spantenburg baseball team, Angel as first baseman, and Pool as manager. Manager Pool will limit the amount of tobacco each member of the team chews by inspecting their plugs of "Climax" every day. R. G. Bailey and C. B. Deane, who will already be prospering in the same state, will be strong supporters of another team of the same league.

Ed. Summersill and "Smiley" Cone will sometime learn that women are their strongest assets, and, forming a law partnership, will go to Hollywood, California, to specialize in divorce cases.

A. H. Whitley, Jr., will become registrar of the Greensboro College for Women, and will hire students as clerks and stenographers. Professors Purser and Moseley, of the chairs of Sociology and Art, respectively, will present this policy of Registrar Whitley to the college president, J. S. Thomas.

P. C. West and Ralph Waldo Slate will go to more fertile fields in the state of New York, where the Republican party will come to the front under their leadership. Ralph will become a state senator and "P. C." will be elected auditor.

Demanding his rights as a citizen and practicing attorney, Alton C. Hall will eventually win a case against the Meredith faculty and will learn French phrases to use in his plea to juries.

Early in the forties the women voters of the grand old state will demand better administration of the laws. The Democratic party leader, J. R. Pool, will immediately put forward the towering but modest I. Woody Evans for governor. Solicitor Stamey, of Asheville, in his campaign addresses will liken Governor-to-be Evans to Abraham Lincoln, in that he "stands head and shoulders above them all". Editor-in-Chief Gaylord Whitaker, of the Greensboro Daily, who is otherwise known as "United States", will support the popular candidate, because he will find it necessary to change his politics when he becomes an editor and husband. We will await the outcome of that election with hopes for better laws and better administrators.

I cannot meddle in the field of the prophet of the past, and those whose futures have already been foretold can only hope that the prophet was merciful to them.

J. B. SAWYER, Prophet.

Senior Vote

THE spirit of high revelry held sway—not the revelry sung by bards in pre-Volstead days; rather, it was the sober, jovial revelry of college seniors. The occasion was the annual smoken of the Senior Class. On this particular night it was the Class of '23 celebrating its recent elevation to the realm of seniority. The atmosphere, laden with the smoke of the mild Havanas, fairly breathed geniality and a frat mal-feeling, until it came time to take the senior vote. Instantly the air seemed surcharged with an emotion too intense for words to describe, and looks of open hostility ever exchanged by rival candidates. The suggestion by Roy McDowell that there be no politicing fell lamely upon the stillness of the room. Many objected to the proposed abolition of one of our most cherished privileges, institutions, and customs. Once the actual voting was got to, it was dispatched with celerity.

So many nominations were received that scarcely any men were left to vote. If any man received as high as five votes he was declared unanimously elected. The vote was widely scattered, but everyone is agreed, now that the heat of election is over, that no fairer representatives from their respective fields could have been chosen.

Dwight Moody Casteloe entered late. When he entered, nominations for the best-looking man of the class were being entertained. One glance at his Apollo-like features, and the class realized to a man that what they had been seeking had been found. In antithesis, Bert Hawkins' physiognomy received its due reward. Bert was declared the ugliest man in the class.

Of course, someone had to mention girls. Jim Pool was the only man in the class to express an extreme dislike for the fair sex. "Doc" Moore was recognized as the Ladies' Man of the aggregation. To console him for the honor given "Doc", "Bill" Johnson had to be elected the Biggest Sport of the class. This reckless element comprises a large number of our class, so "Bill" Brown got the place he merits—the profligate, reckless spendthrift. Everyone knows A. N. Corpening for just what he is. His was practically the only sweeping victory. In the office of Official Bootlegger he has entrusted to him duties which he has proved himself capable of administering efficiently.

Max Gardner had brought along his texts in order that not even one golden moment might be lost from the pursuit of that elusive knowledge. To him fell the honor of being elected the Most Studious Man in the class. The garrulous, truth-stretching Crawford was elected Slinger of the Royal Bovine. Evidently W. M. Page doesn't believe that old axiom, "Honesty is the best policy", for, at any rate, to him fell the position of the Biggest Liar of our body. The distinguished C. W. Bailey won for himself the title of Senator. John Thomas received the title of Hay Seed. Little Wade Sowers wandered in just here and, before he had even found a chair for himself, he had been chosen Mascot. "Ud" Williams' voice, raised in sweet refrain, proclaimed him unquestionably our Best Musician—an honor confirmed by his roommate and his long-suffering neighbors. By now things had warmed so, everyone's heart had been so touched, that Roy McDowell was forgiven for his lack of wisdom at the opening of the election. To balm his wounded spirits he was acclaimed our Best Orator. "Little" Charles' manly physique could not be hid. On the strength of his past record he was awarded the honor of the Best Athlete of the class. Beau Brummels exist in every clime; Owen Stamey is ours. Everyone had been fairly itching all night to cast a vote for T. T. Hamilton as the Most Popular Man in the class, if not in the whole school. Ralph Slate has done so much politicking for others that his friends did some for him on this occasion. He is the Politician of whom we are so justly proud. Next to the manly physique of "Little" Charles reposed the dainty figure of P. C. West. He looked so "cute", so effeminate, sitting there, that the class as a whole could not resist the temptation of showing its admiration. He was voted our Most Feminine member.

When the voting was over T. Barnes, who had previously been elected the Most Religious man of our august assembly, dismissed us with prayer.

EUGENE H. BARTON, Secretary.

Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA }
COUNTY OF WAKE }

WE, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-three, being of a sound mind, memory, and understanding, and being cognizant of the irregularities and pitfalls of this earthly existence, do make and declare this, our last will and testament, hereby declaring void any and all wills heretofore executed by us. As to such estate as the fates have allowed us to accumulate, we make the following disposition, viz.:

First, our executor, hereinafter named, shall see that our funeral services shall be directed in accordance with the wishes of our friends and relatives, pay all funeral expenses, together with all our just debts, not including society dues, library fines, and hospital bills. The aforesaid debts shall be paid out of the first money which may come into his hands belonging to our estate.

Second, we give and bequeath to our beloved faculty all our interests and equipment pertaining to "Dormitory Lake", including all fishing rights, bathing suits, rafts, canoes, and mosquito incubators.

Third, we give and bequeath to the Social Science Department the fall term examination papers on sociology, that they may serve as an inspiration and guide to the oncoming generations.

Fourth, we give and bequeath to the Sky Class (1) tickets on freights to all football, baseball, and basketball games which are played in Raleigh or any other city located on the Seaboard Air Line Railroad; (2) the exclusive right to marry, own Fords, and acquire wealth while attending college; (3) also the ninety-nine-year franchise for handling all intoxicating beverages, which shall include wines, beers, and "Hurricane Moonshine".

Fifth, we give and bequeath to the Freshman Class our splendid athletic record which has been built up and maintained through constant and conscientious effort on the part of some of us. We hope that by constantly applying themselves and keeping all training rules that they will be able to equal our record in athletics, or at least be able to show that this legacy was not given in vain.

Sixth, we wish to commend the present Sophomore Class for the excellent spirit which it has shown this year in upholding the Student Council in all its actions and demonstrating to the faculty, trustees, and supporters of the college that real student government can be a success even where it has to contend with customs which have been in vogue since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

Seventh, the remainder of our property of whatsoever nature, character, and quality it may be, not hereinbefore disposed of, we give and bequeath to our beloved dean for his sole use and benefit under this one condition, that he always give an excuse to anyone who has missed a class because of the irregularity of the freight service.

And we do hereby appoint and constitute "Doctor" Thomas Jeffries sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, we, the Class of Twenty-three, the testators, have to this, our will, set our hands and seal this, the twenty-fifth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

Junior Class Poem

When the night winds pass through the graveyard grass
 In a hundred and seventy years or more,
 'Neath the cold tombstones will be scattered the bones
 Of the jolly old classmates of Twenty-four.

At the middle of night, 'neath the pale moonlight,
 When they break from the mouldering cavern below,
 Through the midnight air, they will chatter and stare,
 And cheer for the days that have gone long ago.

Each med-student ghost will be viewing the host
 Of the people who died from his medical aid;
 And the law-students all will be bitter as gall
 At the sight of the "stiffs" whose defenses they made.

But the B.A. studs will be regular dudes,
 And converse with the shades of old Plato and Poe,
 Till morning light dawns o'er the graveyard lawns,
 When they'll scurry again to their locker below.

Now, let us make hay in the sunshine of day,
 We soon will be passed to that Lethean shore,
 And the cold tombstones will stand watch o'er the bones
 Of the jolly old classmates of Twenty-four.

Junior Class History

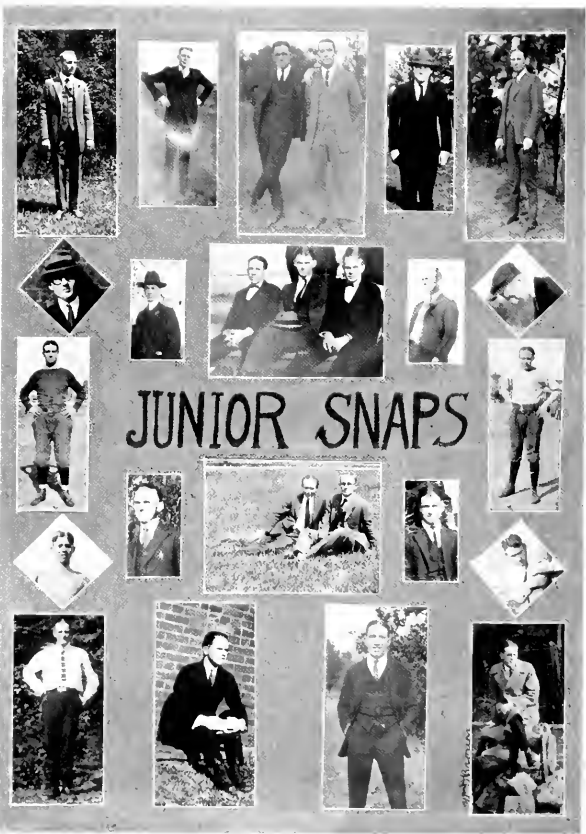

APPROXIMATELY two years ago from the fifth of last September nearly one hundred and fifty boys were wending their way from every portion of North Carolina, and several from other states as well, toward the place that had been in their thoughts and dreams for many months previous—Wake Forest College. Little did they know of the immense changes that the atmosphere of their chosen college would have in moulding their future careers and habits.

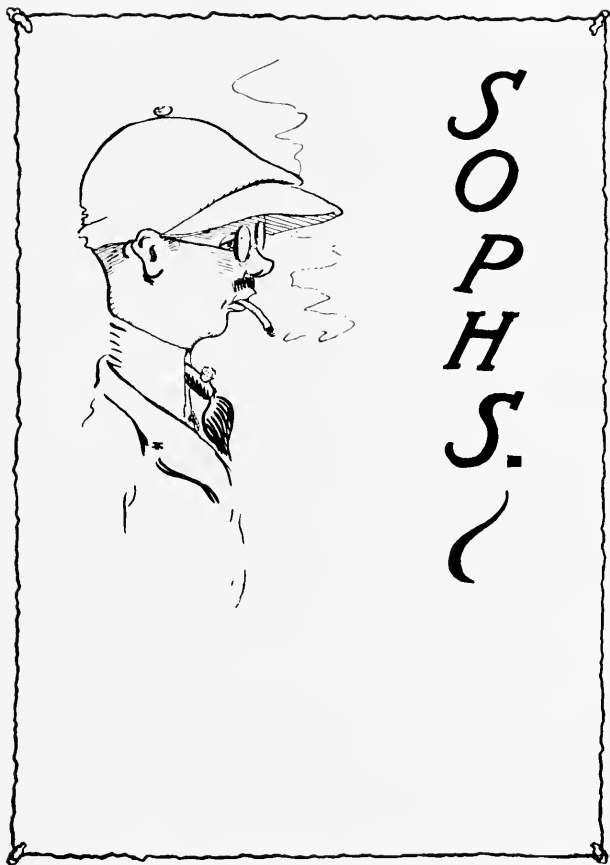

Having arrived here, and having recovered from the first few nights of hilarious excitement, we began to realize that we had indeed entered into a new world. From a position of exalted seniority in high school we had stepped down into the shoes of the lowest and meekest of all human animals, the freshman, or "newish". It was a good experience, although costly to some of us. During this, the brightest year of college life, occurred our most notable athletic achievements. We became class champions in football, basketball, and baseball. Having successfully evolved from this stage of our development, we returned to our homes wiser and with greater respect for our size, individually, as compared with the rest of the universe.

Upon our return the following year our numbers had been diminished, but our spirit and resources remained. Especially in an intellectual way were we well represented. Two of our number were intercollegiate debaters, while numerous others became poets, editors, and leaders in every phase of college activity, some of which fell in an untimely manner upon the heads of our freshman brothers. Also out of our number material was furnished for all of the major sports. Baseball, football, basketball, tennis, and track have received stars in their respective firmaments from our midst. It is with a great deal of pride that we point to these men who have so nobly and successfully represented us on the athletic field, and designate them as members of the Class of '24.

Now we stand upon the exalted pedestal of juniorhood. It is now, as we look down through the shadows and sunshine of the past, that we realize our failures and our shortcomings, our successes and our triumphs. May it be our earnest desire and burning aspiration to so live the rest of our days here as to take advantage of all the opportunities that may come our way, not only for the benefit to ourselves, but also for the glory, honor, and reputation of our beloved Alma Mater!

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sophomore Class History

ON the fifth of September, 1921, the Class of '25 embarked on a new era of life by making its first appearance at the college doors. We, indeed, had some difficulty in adjusting ourselves to our new environment, since some of us were so unfortunate as to have too much admiration for the fairer sex and the courage to make successive calls. These habits, of course, were soon corrected by the assistance of our major students. During this struggle for existence and survival we had the competent leadership of L. A. Peacock as president.

In the latter part of the last term we met to elect officers for this year, and after much profound oratory and deliberation the following officers were elected: D. H. Harris, president; R. B. Griffin, vice-president; and B. C. Booe, secretary.

Since returning for this year we have made a record of which we may well be proud. We are breaking precedent by enacting other forms of amusement than those of our predecessors. Each member of our class has made a pledge to abandon the nefarious custom and tradition of hazing, and so far each man has admirably kept that sacred vow. In other words, we have taken "H" out of hazing. This improvement has not only helped the morale of the student body, but also has greatly helped to establish a new and better spirit in every fiber of our social being, among alumni as well as students, and we believe that these changes will be as permanent as the everlasting hills. We realize, too, that now is the psychological moment for the replacing of outgrown customs, with new ones for the welfare of all.

Not only have we made a creditable record in the abolishing of outgrown customs and in the enacting of new ones, but we have also made an important record in athletics, in society, and in the religious life of the college. We are ably represented in varsity football by Reitzel, Lowry, Hansen, and White. Our class has the honor of winning the class football pennant, which was won by a co-ordination of actual gridiron strength and class spirit. Also we have representatives in our student publications and in the religious work of the college who will well rank with those from any other class.

Then with a past that has been a tremendous success we look upon our future sojourn here with renewed hopes and aspirations of making the ideals of Wake Forest College ever a beacon light of our state and nation.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History

THE Freshman Class made its first appearance at Wake Forest on the fifth of September, nineteen hundred twenty-two. Everybody throughout the state thought it would be a small class, but we surprised them. Even a larger number than usual gathered from every section of the country, from the mountains to the sea. We were characterized by the usual and, if possible, more than the usual, greenness of all freshmen classes. The place and the people were equally strange to us, and we stood around like frightened rabbits that had no place of refuge. Every upperclassman was willing to give us of his advice, which was intended to mislead rather than to guide us.

We came with the full intention of keeping in our place, but our resolution failed on the very first night. As soon as dark came the sophomores began yelling, "Come out, newish!" and everyone that seemed to be slow received a personal call. Then there followed a parade and other performances which everybody seemed to enjoy more than the freshmen.

One of our first problems was the question concerning the freshman cap. The trustees had said that we could wear them if we wished to. The sophomores said that we must wear them whether we wished to or not, and they seemed to have the most influence over us. J. S. Thomas, president of the student body, called a mass meeting and explained the need of wearing the authorized cap. The class responded, and within two days almost every freshman was wearing a little black cap with an old gold button on top and an "F" of the same color in front. Those who refused were stamped as men without class spirit.

We were called together on the fifteenth of October for class organization. J. W. Piner was elected president and S. L. Blanton, secretary. Things began to run more smoothly, since we could then work together as a unit.

We had our ups and downs, but we always knew where to find counsel. Never has any class had a better defender or adviser than we had in the president of the student body. What he said seemed to be "law and gospel" for us. Every freshman looked to him as "the author and finisher" of college rules and regulations. If we wished to go to the movies, we asked Thomas. If we wished protection of any kind, Thomas was the man for us to see. If we wished to have a date with any of the fair sex, we always went to see what Thomas thought of it. Long will this class remember the man whose advice and personal attention came just when it was needed. By this help the Wake Forest spirit soon became our spirit, and the college received our loyalty and devotion.

We have had our trials and troubles, but have come safely through them all, and we now stand ready to help keep "Old Gold and Black" ever waving high."

MINISTERIAL CLASS

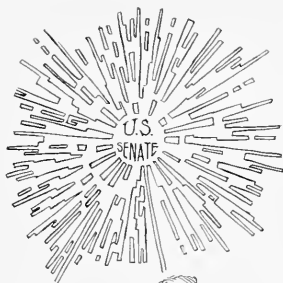

Ministerial Class History

WE do not claim to be the best class in the history of the college; neither do we say that our class is the largest or the best looking. But we can say this—namely, that if the student body is made up of four hundred and seventy-five of the finest youth in the state, seventy-one of these are making it their life work to follow the noblest calling known. It has been well said that the religion of Jesus Christ must be very attractive, or else people would not put up with so much poor preaching. These men are getting more than the knowledge of how to preach. They are taking courses that help give them poise and stability, and that equip them for leadership as well as pastoral duties.

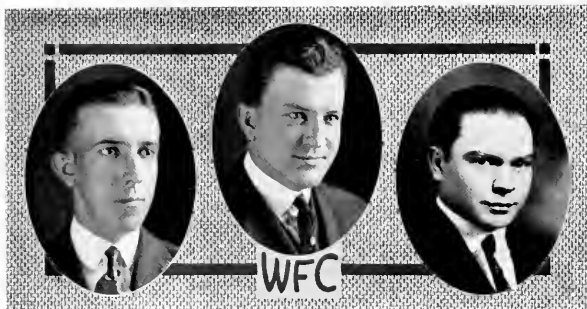

Should you visit one of the class meetings when all the men were present, you would look into the faces of men representing five states. Wake Forest is not limited to North Carolinians, you know. But North Carolina claims sixty-two of them. Other states are represented as listed: South Carolina, four; Virginia, two; Alabama, one; Arkansas, one; and Missouri, one. You would be facing fifteen men who are in the graduating class this year. (The dignity of the twenty sophomores surpasses them, however.) The lesson in meekness has been learned so well by the Juniors that it would be difficult for you to select them from the first year men. Let us hope that all fifteen of them will return next year. At the beginning of the term we were glad to welcome into our midst twenty-one men who are with us for the first time.

The class is deeply indebted to our president, W. R. Wallace, for the leadership, and to our faithful instructors, Dr. W. R. Cullom and Dr. William B. Royall. These men have done much toward deepening the spirituality of the members and enriching their lives by their example and guidance. Also, we have been honored by the presence of Dr. W. L. Potey and Dr. John R. Sampey on certain delightful occasions.

LAW CLASS

Law Class History

To narrate a full and accurate history that the Law Class of 1923 merits would require more space than is permitted here and a pen more facile and experienced than the writer's, for a chronological outline of the class's accomplishments would be prolific and deserving of much praise.

Suffice it to say that never has a Law Class of Wake Forest possessed the record that may be claimed by the present one. Many have been its accomplishments, many have been the honors reflected upon it by its members, and continuous successes have been the rule rather than the exception.

In the election of Paul Caleb West as president the class exhibited wisdom that cannot be criticized. The leadership of West has been faultless, and under his direction the progress has been spectacular, especially from a standpoint of the benefits that have resulted to the class as a whole.

Probably the most prominent activity of the class has been the moot court, which has met each week that circumstances would permit, and from these trials much benefit has been furnished the embryonic lawyers who will hedeck the forum of the legal profession of the state in the years to come. The success of the moot court this session eclipses all years of the past, and, instead of meeting occasionally, as has been the case in the past, this year the court has been held every week, and cases of practical importance have been tried with the same procedure as used in the courts of the state.

Since the establishment of Wake Forest's Law Department its place among the law schools of North Carolina has ranked at the pinnacle of efficiency. The credit for this position of prominence goes altogether to the Law Faculty, headed by our beloved dean, Dr. Needham Y. Gulley, who for a quarter century has bent every effort towards the success of the school. Through the ability of the faculty the Law Department has achieved this enviable place; for this reason, the Class of 1923 has had the opportunity of claiming among its numbers students of ability and prospective prominence.

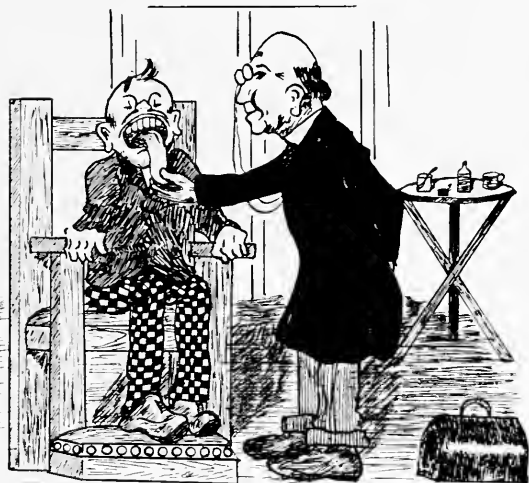

Probably no law class of previous years has included in its numbers as many men active in student affairs as has the present class. In athletics the class has been well represented. On the football team it can claim Fulton, Holmes, Moss, Crutchfield, White, Greason, Lentz, Lowry, and Reitzel—nearly half the entire first team. In basketball the Class of '23 is represented by Greason. As performers on the diamond the Law Class has contributed Johns, Jones, Stamey, Arnette, and Albritton.

Not only in athletics does the Law Class of '23 claim to have furnished students prominent in campus activities, but also in other phases of college life the class has contributed more than its part. John Thomas, as president of the student body and student government; Thomas and Stamey, as intercollegiate debaters; Cash, as editor of Old Gold and Black; Knott, as editor of The Student; West, as business manager of THE HOWLER; and Pool, as manager of football, are among the leading members of the class that have lent their energy and ability to the task of moving the wheels of college activities.

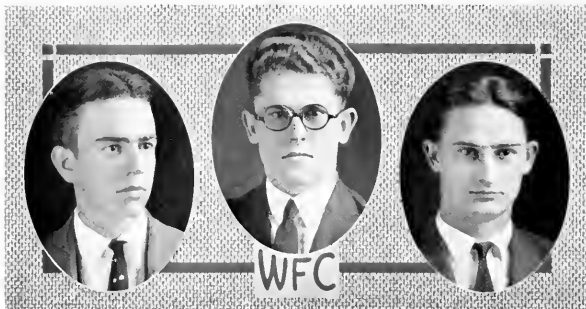

Many are the honors that might be enumerated by a historian of such a class—but why write more? The real history of the class is to be made when its components meet the test that will be theirs when they enter upon the stage of life's affairs in the realm of business. Certainly it can be said without exaggeration that the Class of '23 has established a record that will be difficult to exceed by any future group of men.

MEDICAL CLASS

Medical Class History

THE Medical Class of Wake Forest (this year enrolling forty-seven students) has always been noted for the type of its graduates and the record they make.

When the class was reorganized on September 16, 1922, twenty-seven new men were initiated into the class, including two from New York and one from the sunny state of Louisiana. This fact within itself shows that the Medical School of Wake Forest is known from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. There was also an addition to the faculty, Professor C. E. Wilson, graduate of the University of Indiana and recently of the Virgin Isles, who is head of the Department of Histology and Embryology. The freshmen are indebted to him for the vast knowledge of "how we come to be and our composition since we are".

Since we spent most of our time in the laboratory, our achievements have been very startling. Carroll and Hodge claim to have discovered a chromogenic bacteria, causing red hair. Palermo, with the never-failing help of Gilmore, prepared an anti-toxin for bacillus "get-up-late". Bailey, Johnson and Smith declared the germ theory a joke, and performed experiments before the class as proof. MacDonald, aided by the Barnes brothers, outlined a method for bacteria in pathological lesions in order to watch them at work. Merola's surgical ability is well known because of his motto, "Cut it out".

The achievements in the laboratory were surpassed by the ones in college activities. The class is represented in every branch of athletics, furnishing three members of the football team, Heckman, Johnson, and Palermo; two members of the basketball team, Carlyle and Heckman, and captain of football and basketball for two years. In addition to these, the class has furnished the president of the Athletic Council for two years; president of the Junior Class, one year; and manager of basketball for this year.

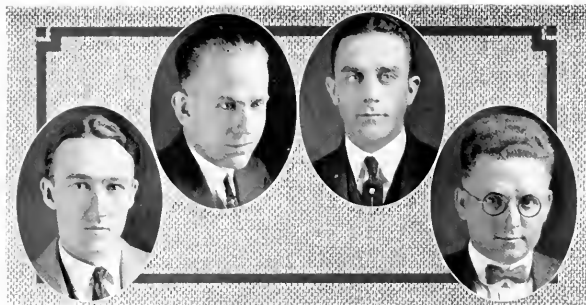

The determined spirit of the class is shown by the records of these men on the athletic field and also in the class room, the motto of the class now being "Pro Wake Forest". The same spirit will be the outstanding feature later in the medical world, but the motto will then be the same as that of their Alma Mater, "Pro humanitate".

Proud as it is of its history, the class boasts of but one thing—that is, the perfect harmony that has always existed in the class, and, better still, between the members of the class and the professors. The best legacy that the graduating class can leave the succeeding classes is, "May this harmony always exist"!

Education Club History

DURING the recent years the Education Club has grown to be an enterprising organization. Under the supervision of Drs. H. T. Hunter and D. B. Bryan the club has shown marked growth and advancement in the past year. The members received practical good, and some definitely tangible results are attained.

The chief purpose of the club is to foster an educational spirit at Wake Forest. Those who have noted its activities agree that the organization has succeeded in developing a greater interest in education than ever before. And those who plan to teach find in the Education Club a teachers' placement bureau which works in co-operation with the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly. Then, too, the prospective teacher hears discussed in the club such questions and problems as will vitally concern him in his profession. For it is the policy of the members to deal only with problems which confront the teacher of today.

Of late a new process has been pursued in procuring new members. Only those men who have shown a deep interest and have passed off a certain number of hours in Education are invited to join the organization. No member is taken in before he has delivered an interesting and worth-while discourse or paper on some current educational problem.

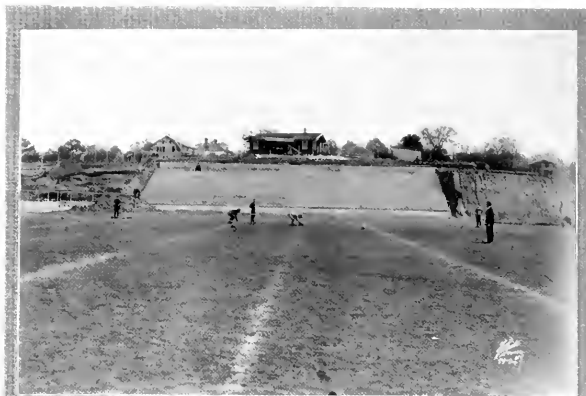

A pleasant feature of the club is its social life. Smokers, socials, lectures and motion pictures are enjoyed throughout the term. The management is fortunate in obtaining many of the leading educators of the state to lecture from time to time.

Not only is the Education Club greatly benefiting its members, but it is also doing a great work for the college as a whole.

MANAGERS OF THE ATHLETIC TEAMS

CAPTAINS OF THE ATHLETIC TEAMS

PHIL H. UTLEY, Head Coach

Coach Utley is a son of Wake Forest, who came back to his Alma Mater this year as head coach of athletics, and he has ably proved his worth as a director. Instilling into his men the desire to play the game for all that it is worth, and at the same time to play clean, fairly, he has succeeded in putting out teams that have been a credit to the institution and to himself. He has won the admiration and esteem of all the men who have been under him, and they fight for him as long as there is any fighting to be done.

GEORGE L. LEVENE

Coach Levene came to Wake Forest this year with an enviable reputation, both from the University of Tennessee and of Pennsylvania. At the latter place he was a star in his undergraduate days, and was one of the best ends in the United States, being a member of the mythical all-American team. He succeeded in putting out a football team composed largely of green material that has made a very good record, and he is regarded as one of the best football coaches in the state. He has a true love for Wake Forest and tries to do all that he can for the college.

E. L. NEWMARKER

While Coach Newmarker's official place is in the class room, he has shown his college patriotism and loyalty by going out on the football field and drilling the fundamentals of good football into the players. It can easily be seen that he knew what he was about when one examines the scrub football record and finds that the team lost only one game, and that by a bare margin of one point. The college and the student body feel everlastingly indebted to him because of his hard work and unselfishness.

FOOT-BALL

Football Review

On September the third the call for football candidates by Coaches George Levene and Phil Utley was answered by eleven letter men, led by Captain Heckman, and a host of material from the scrubs of the preceding year and the freshman class. There was a total of eighty men out to begin the strenuous training necessary towards the development of a successful squad.

The first contest, with Atlantic Christian College, served as a practice game before meeting Carolina at Goldsboro, where, though we were expecting to make a good showing, the state champions overwhelmed us by the largest score recorded against Wake Forest in recent years. After barely winning from Elon, we played probably our best game of the season against Davidson, holding the Wildcats to a 6 to 6 tie. Tying the Quakers and losing to William and Mary in the next two games, and with a record none too brilliant, we met Trinity in Raleigh and surprised football fans by holding the Blue and White "wonder team" to a 3 to 0 score. Dropping the annual game with North Carolina State, which this year was played on the newly-finished Gore Field, we won from Hampden-Sidney on Thanksgiving Day in Norfolk.

Basketball Review

With the best quintet that has graced the Baptist court for a number of years, Wake Forest failed to capture the state championship, due mostly to hard luck. The second Carolina game was played with Stringfield on the bench, nursing an injured side, and the second game, with Davidson, was lost while Captain George Heckman was on the injured list.

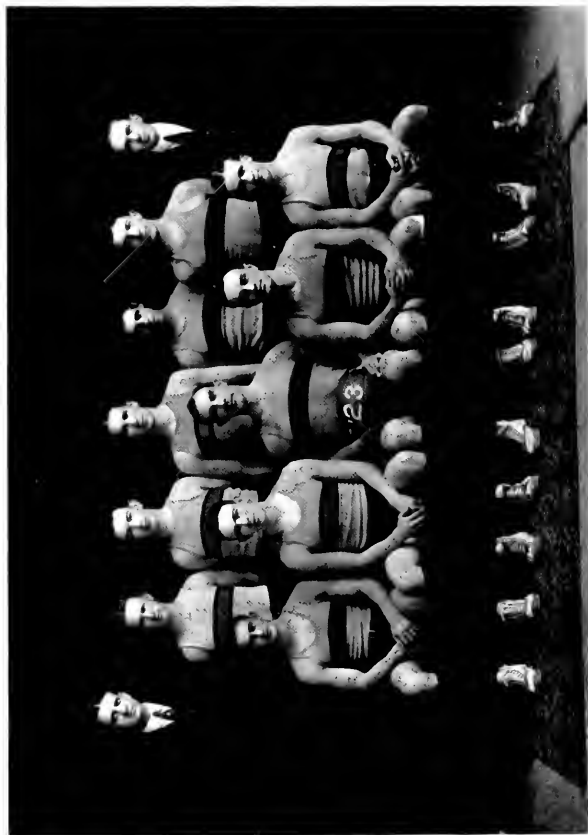

Although the championship was lost, the season is not to be considered unsuccessful, for only four games of fourteen intrastate games were lost, and the Wake Forest aggregation ranked second place to the champions. Only two of the lost games were played with all five of the first string men in the game. A trip in Tennessee was unsuccessful so far as scores are concerned, but again consideration is to be made for the absence of Captain Heckman and Ex-Captain Carlyle from the line-up.

The team was composed of four letter men, Heckman, Carlyle, and Stringfield playing their fourth year, Murray Greason playing his third year, and Pete Pegano, who, although playing his first year on the Baptist team, did the work of a real star at stationary guard. The feature of the whole season was the work of Captain Heckman in the second State College game; but in all the games Stringfield and Pegano did the most stellar work.

The intrastate record is as follows:

Baseball Review

Wake Forest College is always depended on to furnish plenty of amusement for any of her college rivals when baseball season arrives.

The 1922 schedule arranged by Manager Hoge, consisting of twenty-four games, was indeed a very unique one. Out of the twenty-four games there were only three that inclement weather prevented being played. Twelve of the twenty-one games played were won by Wake Forest, including one game lost to Baltimore Orioles and one lost to Durham League, which are not considered as inter-collegiate contests. While 95 points were scored by opposing teams, Wake Forest scored 97. After having summed up the outcome of the season, we can easily record it as a successful one.

The game between Carolina and Wake Forest, on April 5, 1922, was played by eighteen individual stars, all of whom were fully aglow that day. This is considered one of the best, if not the very best, North Carolina college games played during the season of 1922.

Tennis Review

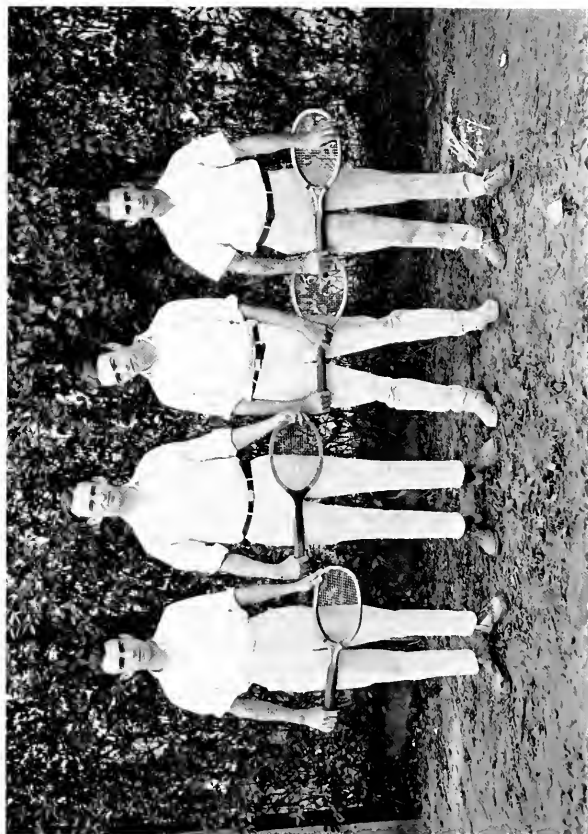

Baseball is undoubtedly king of American sports, while tennis and golf vie for the honor as heir-apparent. American sport lovers are demanding recreation in which they themselves can participate, with the result that professionalized baseball is fast giving way to the more beneficial games of tennis and golf.

College life is merely a cross-section of that vast body of people which makes up the public. In college, as in the world, the larger number of men who are not qualified for the heavier sports of baseball, football, and basketball are engaging in tennis—a game which can be played at practically all times of the year. It is played at Wake Forest not only in order to make the tennis team, but also for the love of the game, for, after all, that should be the main object in any sport.

Tennis took a new lease on life at Wake Forest this season. Instead of a two-man team, the varsity was enlarged to take in five men. It was only natural when more places were open on the team that more men took an active interest in the sport and brought about a spirited rivalry for berths. In addition to immediate improvements on the team a tennis squad was formed of the best thirty tennis players in college, who received recognition as candidates for the tennis varsity just as men trying for any other team. The result has been better tennis, more interest in the sport, more scheduled games, better management, and better courts.

In the fall tournament Vann Stringfield, George Blount, Jack Carlyle, and T. Settle Graham qualified for places on the varsity. These men composed the team that took second place in North Carolina intercollegiate tennis during the 1922 season, defeating Trinity and Guilford and losing to Carolina (state champions). During the late spring another contest will be staged with each of these colleges, in addition to a series of games to be played with North Carolina State College, Davidson, and probably a game out of the state, while the varsity five will engage in the annual intercollegiate spring tournament. Due to the fact that this annual must be sent in to the publishers at an early date, the result of these spring games will have to be recorded in next year's issue.

Track Review

Although the most ancient of athletic contests—track—does not occupy the place that is due it in the colleges of the state (especially is this true at Wake Forest), there is always a goodly number of students who take an interest in this phase of athletics. Here at Wake Forest track is the least encouraged of all sports, and yet no form of athletics mixes better with scholarship, as has been demonstrated in recent years, when the Hubert A. Royster medal was presented to track men. It is a very great distinction to the one who wins the medal, because the one to whom it is presented must not only be a good athlete, but he must also be one with the highest scholarship standing of all the athletes in college.

The team in 1922 was given only a few meets, and rain prevented some of these from being held, yet it made a creditable showing against the team of State College.

Heckman, star member of the team for the past three years, is coaching the team this year. Several members of last year's team are with us again, and with the new material, which looks quite promising, indications are that Wake Forest is scheduled for a successful season.

Gymnasium Review

Recognizing the necessity of building up and keeping the body in good condition, as well as developing the mind, Wake Forest College lays no little importance on frequent and wholesome exercise. In recognition of this fact the college has an excellent gymnasium building, football field, basketball court, baseball diamond, tennis courts, and a track course. Every man in college who expects to receive any kind of degree is required to take gymnasium at least three times a week during his first three years at college. This work is counted as any other course in the college curriculum, and it must be passed with a grade of 70 as the minimum before the student is allowed to graduate.

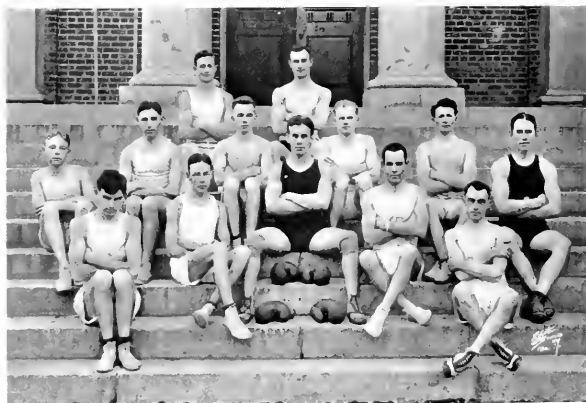

All students who go out for the major sports—football, basketball, and baseball—are excused from the regular gymnasium class work, but strict attendance at every practice is required, otherwise the student forfeits his right to compete for a place on the athletic teams, and must begin again the regular class work in gymnasium.

For several years the director of gymnasium has conducted a special class for those students who are especially interested in gymnastics and who wish to do more advanced work, such as the more difficult work on the mat, parallel bars, high bar, and trapeze. This class does excellent work, and for the last three years has sent a representative team to take part in the annual Society Circus conducted at Raleigh by the Shriners. The Wake Forest acts have always won high favor in the eyes of the spectators; one act especially—the elephant act—greatly pleased the spectators, and was given for three successive years, being repeated the last two times by special request. This year a keener interest has been shown in gymnasium work. Besides the regular class work and the special class, there are two other classes—boxing and wrestling—which were conducted this year for the first time by the director.

Thus the physical man is kept fit at Wake Forest College.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In 1922 the Student Body framed and adopted a constitution under which the conduct of students will be regulated hereafter. President, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer are nominated by the student body. The legislative department makes all student rules and regulations. It is composed of the presidents of the three upper classes and of the Freshman Class after Christmas; a senior elected by the law, by the medical, by the ministerial, and by the education class; and one by the Senior Class at large; two juniors and one sophomore elected by their respective classes; and the twelve members of the Student Council. The Student Council observes, investigates, and passes on all violations of student regulations. It is composed of the president of the student body; eight other seniors elected one each from the law, medical, ministerial, and education classes, and three from the class at large; three juniors and one sophomore elected by their respective classes. The council makes the nominations for both the legislative department and the council. Elections for the next school year must be made not later than April 5.

Each member of the student government is under oath to report any violation of the student rules. A leading purpose of the reorganization is the abolition of hazing. The student body of 1921-1922 unanimously pledged itself to support the new government in this endeavor.—The Handbook.

Wake Forest Press Association

The Wake Forest Press Association was organized last fall by Dr. Chas. P. Weaver as a distributing agency for college news throughout the state and to train embryonic journalists who were unable to take any of the journalistic courses.

The officers are as follows: R. F. Beasley, Jr., president; J. C. Masten, Jr., vice-president; R. L. Andrews, secretary-treasurer.

The association meets every Monday evening at 6:45 in Dr. Weaver's room for the purpose of forecasting the week's news. Thirty dailies in North Carolina and many weekly papers have carried college news sent out by the members of the association throughout the year.

JUST

ADAM WAS LUCKY

Whatever trouble Adam had,
 No man, in days of yore,
 Could say, when he had told a joke,
 "I've heard that one before."
 —Selected.

 "My boy's letters from college always send me to the dictionary."

"You're lucky. My boy's always send me to the bank."—Irwegian.

 She: "Are late hours good for one?"

He: "No, but they are fine for two."—Selected.

 Old Lady (speaking to a passenger on the train as it stopped at a station): "Oh, this must be Dix Hill! I see all of the inmates are out."

Passenger: "No, mum, this is Wake Forest."

First Man: "What is the population of Wake Forest?"

Second Man: "Wait until the next train comes through, and then you can count for yourself."

UP-TO-DATE

"I call my new maid 'The Wireless Wonder.'"

"Why?"

"Because she's always 'listening in!'—London Mail.

Senior Hawkins: "How do you spell console—c-o-n-s-o-l-e?"

HOW WAS THIS?

One of our country correspondents, telling about a fire in his town, wrote: "The fire department was called, but not much damage was done."—Capper's Weekly.

(The correspondent must have lived in Wake Forest.)

Dr. Cullom (on Bible): "Mr. Morgan, can you tell us what a 'scalawag' is?"

Sophomore Morgan: "I think that is a book agent, Doctor."

"Water-Joint" Godfrey: "I was sent out of English class today because I told the professor that I had not studied my lesson. But, pshaw! It don't pay to be honest around here."

THE BETTER TELLER

Student: "A fortune-teller told me that I had a lot of money coming to me."

Sportsman: "I had rather hear a paying teller say that!"—Judge.

HIS JOB

Housewife: "What do you work at, my poor man?"

Tramp: "At intervals, ma'am."—Detroit Free Press.

"How can I keep my toes from going to sleep?"

"Don't let them turn in."—Purple Cow.

THEN CAME LABORATORY WORK

Heeh: "Would you like to hear the theory of kissing?"

Shee: "No; I only care for applied sciences."—Sun Dial.

Tobacco is a dirty weed—

I like it!

It can fulfill no human need—

I like it!

It makes you thin and long and lean,

It takes the hair right off your bean;

It's the derndest stuff I've ever seen—

I like it!

—Selected.

A FAST HEAD

He: "That dance last night reminded me of a horse race I saw last week at Belmont Park."

She: "How come?"

He: "Well, after the first lap it was neck and neck."—Mirror.

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED

The Father: "How is it, sir, that I find you kissing my daughter? How is it, sir?"

The Suitor: "Great! Great!"—Lehigh Burr.

The absent-minded professor surveyed himself in the hair-brush instead of the mirror. "Gracious, but I need a shave!" he mused.—Selected.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Rastus and Sambo, two Mississippi darkies, met in Memphis. They were discussing the heat in their towns.

Rastus said: "Why, man, in my town it gits so hot it wilts the flowers onto the wall papah."

Sambo replied: "Shucks, niggah, you don't know nothin' a-tall 'bout no hot wedder. Why, in my place dey has to keep de lectric fans runnin' in de col' storage room at de ice plant."—Saturday Evening Post.

A LITTLE FREE ADVICE

He who knows not and knows not that he knows not—he's a fool. Shun him.

He who knows not and knows that he knows not—he is simple. Teach him.

He who knows but knows not that he knows—he's asleep. Awaken him.

But he who knows and knows that he knows—he is wise. Follow him.—The Student.

Doctor Tom Jefferies, Great Math. Genius

(Clipped from Old Gold and Black)

When asked to give his opinion on the proposed building program, Dr. Tom Jefferies, the veteran colored sponsor of the campus, cynically remarked:

"Speaking of de very best, we has a lot o' buildings here now, for zample: The 'Ministration Building, Philomathesian Dormitory, Euzelian Dormitory, Old Dormitory, Medical Building, Alumni Building, Biology Building, Chemistry Building, Observertory, Gymnasium, Winget Hall, Chapel Building, Hospital, Informative Building, Baptist Church, New Dormitory, Wilkinson Building, Powers Building, and Tammany Hall—yeah! yeah! Tha's twenty-five—but build sum more—sum more."

Lest We Forget

That "Hank" Langston is king of the Gymnasium.

That Wyre swam across Holding's pond on February 11th.

That Bailey was manager of basketball.

That Sophomore Bivens wore a dress suit to Meredith.

That Dr. Pearson bought a Ford coupe last summer.

That Jim Pool shaved three times one afternoon just before going to Oxford.

That Dr. Gorrell forgot to call the roll on March 1st.

That as yet no one has found out, "Why the major cord?"

That Mike Lee rode a freight train.

That the swimming pool in front of the

New Dormitory is open to all students.

That Tracey is a good "track" man.

That the chapel doors mysteriously disappeared one dark night.

That Coward keeps in practice by calling the hogs at least once a day.

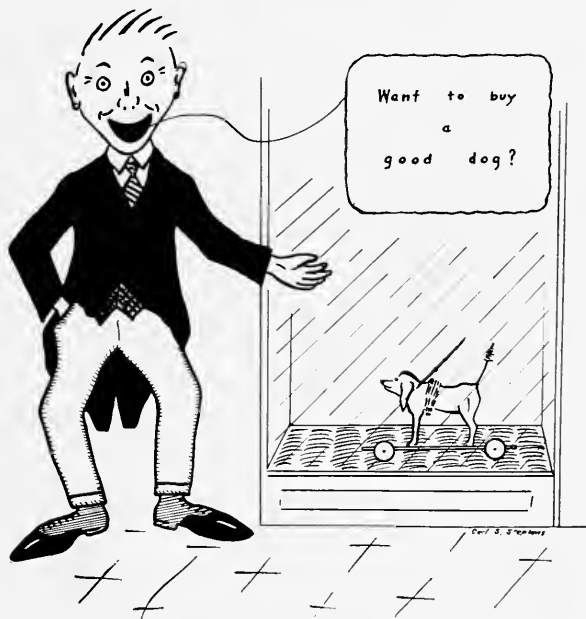

That H. D. Browning is the busiest man in college.

That the hot water was on in the Gym. once last fall and twice this spring.

That T. T. Hamilton is assistant to the dean.

That one is supposed to laugh at the jokes on the preceding pages.

Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

SEMINARY HILL, TEXAS

The 1922-1923 session has been its largest and best session. Great progress has been made in strengthening of faculty, increase of student body, enlargement of course of study, and in other valuable ways. Its various departments in theological study, in Gospel Music, Religious Education, Missions, have greatly grown and have been materially strengthened. The Master's degrees are given to college graduates, Bachelor's degrees given to junior college graduates, diplomas given to high school graduates, and certificates of proficiency given to others without these educational qualifications, after pursuing the required courses of study. A great spiritual, missionary atmosphere and splendid equipment, a Christ-honoring brotherhood, wonderful opportunity for study, many fields of religious activity open to aggressive workers.

End

My rash is done, my song has ceased, my theme
 Has died into an echo; it is fit
 The spell should break of this protracted dream.
 The torch shall be extinguished which hath lit
 My midnight lamp — and what is left, is writ,
 Would 't were worthier!

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (10.5 million in 1990, 11.5 million in 1995, 12.5 million in 2000, 13.5 million in 2005).

There are a number of reasons for this increase. One of the main reasons is that people are living longer. The life expectancy at birth in the UK is 77 years for men and 81 years for women. This is an increase from 72 years for men and 76 years for women in 1950. The increase in life expectancy is due to a number of factors, including improvements in diet, lifestyle, and medical care. The increase in life expectancy has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.

Another reason for the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is that people are having children later in life. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that people are working longer hours and are therefore unable to have children as early in life as they used to. This has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.

A third reason for the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is that people are getting married later in life. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that people are working longer hours and are therefore unable to get married as early in life as they used to. This has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.

A fourth reason for the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is that people are getting divorced later in life. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that people are working longer hours and are therefore unable to get divorced as early in life as they used to. This has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.

A fifth reason for the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is that people are getting remarried later in life. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that people are working longer hours and are therefore unable to get remarried as early in life as they used to. This has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.

A sixth reason for the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is that people are getting widowed later in life. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that people are working longer hours and are therefore unable to get widowed as early in life as they used to. This has led to an increase in the number of people aged 65 and over.
